LOCAL BRIEFS.—

A big hop is talked of to come off soon.Remember DaCosta at Tucker Hall Monday evening.It is thought the Legislature will get through its work by the 20th.The proposition of improving our court house is growing in favor.Raleigh instead of being called the city of Oaks should be styled Mudopolis.Dr. F. N. Lucky, of the House, was confined to his room by sickness yesterday."Let us have light?" Why is the delay—who is wrong, and where is the fault?We were pleased to see in our office yesterday, Col. Claudius B. Saunders, of Johnston, and E. W. Kerr, Esq., of Sampson.The Sheriff of Dare county settled with the State Treasurer yesterday the amount of State taxes from his county for the year 1872.As will be seen by advertisement elsewhere in to-day's issue, the sale of the Old Fair Grounds has been postponed till Monday the 10th of February.The Local Editor of the News is heretofore to remove the bank of coal that is lying on the side walk in front of the News office. Take due notice and govern yourself accordingly.The Executive Committee of the State Agricultural Society held its regular monthly meeting last night and adopted the plans of the buildings proposed to be placed upon the new Fair Grounds.
An adjourned meeting will be held on Thursday morning next, and a general meeting of the citizens and others interested will be held in Metropolitan Hall that night."Meet me by Moonlight" is suggested by the beautiful moonlight nights we are now to have.—Raleigh News.Now Woodson, if you don't leave off these moonlight meetings and keep to a more legitimate business, we'll tell your wife, that's what.—Kinston Gazette.Brother Wilson, we ask you in mercy not to add to the number of difficulties that now press heavily on us. We happened to see a dog fight some time since at an unreasonable hour, in a questionable locality and under disadvantageous circumstances. We could not tell you all about it just now, but when we get out that (which is doubtful) we will be better able to stand a "moonlight" charge.SUPREME COURT.—Court met yesterday at the usual hour. All the Judges on the bench. The following cases were taken up:State vs. Andrew Rucker, Argued.
Attorney General for the State and Jones & Jones and Ovide Dupre for the defendant.J. M. Cregmiles, et al. Buncombe.
Referred to John L. Bailey to state the whole matter. Phillips & Merrimon for defendant.D. C. and Jas D. Hardie vs. J. T. and Eli Murray, Buncombe. Argued. J. H.

Merrimon for plaintiff and Battle & Son for defendants.The Court adjourned to meet at the usual hour this morning.REMOVAL OF GOV. GRAHAM'S DIS-ABILITIES.—We are gratified to state that the United States Senate has concurred in the House Bill, removing the disabilities of Ex-Governor William A.
Graham, of this State. The bill had been referred to a special committee, but was called up by Senator Hanson on Wednesday the 5th inst., and passed the Senate by a two-thirds vote.We rejoice at the consummation of this tardy act of justice, and we congratulate the people of North Carolina that one of their best, purest, ablest statesmen has at last had the political shackles stricken from his limbs, and is once more a free man.

HENDERSON AND VICINITY.—

Father McNamara, who is now on a brief travelling tour, sends the following interesting items from Henderson and vicinity:

Editors Daily News:

GENTLEMEN: I am passing a day in this thriving center. The people of Henderson are enterprising in a high degree. They are building their place very rapidly after the disasters that have recently occurred to them. An intercourse of a few hours has shown me that the people of this place have the determination and the ability to secure for Henderson a prominence which will rank her among the first towns in the State of North Carolina. They have the fortune to have in their midst a Land Agency which is fast promoting the best interests of this district. The Parham & McCallum deserve and are receiving the approbation of citizens and strangers. The agents invited into this locality a class of emigrants that must advance any section in which they happen to locate, and they are laying the foundation of a business which will ultimately advance this population in a financial as well as agricultural point of view.

Legislature may be slow in forwarding the work of emigration, and monied citizens may stand back and wait for time or time to send capital and muscle into the State; but Parham and Mc-Callum, instead of praying to Hercules to help them, have put their own shoulder to the wheel, and have already rolled into Henderson a number of families who are now cultivating the soil, and buying their supplies from the business men of this interesting town.And, by the way, they have here the right kind of business men. I would like to speak of them individually, but cannot do so at present. Suffice it to say, that Henderson is flourishing. Her water places are being built up and variously improved, and the air about town is encouraging in a high degree.
Kittrell's Hotel deserves the patronage of the travelling public. It could not be otherwise, under the management of the Simon W., from whom the House assumes the name. I so happily enjoy I have conversed with the emigrants who have located here. They are all pleased with the lands, and all express their gratitude for the Land Agents, Parham & McCallum, who have been instrumental in bringing them here from Canada and the Northwestern States. These emigrants are loud in their praises of the North Carolina climate. A genuine lad of the Emerald Isle declares that this climate is much closer to that of Ireland than any other he has discovered. When you consider how the Irishman loves his home, could any tongue confer more praise of the climate and soil of this Old North State."The savage loves his native shore, Though rude the soil and chill the air;
Then will my Erin's sons adore, The Isle which nature forms so fair."I am staying at present with an English Catholic family. These people are also delighted with North Carolina.
The father came to America 40 years ago, settled in Pennsylvania, returned home to old England, came again and located himself near Boston. He did not like it. He went into Canada, bought a farm, lived there many years, got tired and disgusted with the length and severity of the winter, and here we have the fine old gentleman, with his grown family, and all perfectly contented with the climate, soil and population of our magnificent State. Let them come. Let them know the advantages we offer them. Give them cheap lands, cheap Railroad travel, a kind word, a warm heart, and then our "old fields" will be no longer a reproach to the husbandry and enterprise of our people. I am on the wing. I go down the road by next train, and cannot make this epistle any longer. There is much to interest me here, but I amYours faithfully, FATHER McNAMARA.RICH, RARE AND RACY.—The following communication reached us by last night's mail. The verses referred to we have in our possession, where they will ever remain, but we submit to the disposition of "Senatorial Bachelordom" only.
We thank our old friend kindly, and ask him to remember us again:

JANUARY 28TH, 1873.

DEAR "OLE LOCALITY," (alias) WOOD-SON:In your youthful days of pleasure, When life all seemed sweet as peaches;
You have doubtless danced a measure, To the tune of "Senatorial Bachelordom."Having lately stumbled on the ancient ballad, and having just seen the beautiful and stimulating verses on Kissing, published at the instance of Senatorial Bachelordom, I have taken the liberty of transcribing the old time ditty, with its seasonable advice, and forwarding it for the benefit of yourself and your benighted friends, whether in or out of the Legislature.
It is only as a relic of other days, and to show what our fathers thought upon the subject, that it is submitted, and not by any means as an artistic gem, or as a subject for journalistic criticism.Very truly yours, &c., J. C.DON'T.—Parties seeing notices in the News of property for sale or rent, should not call too soon on the party advertising, as by doing so we cannot be allowed to advertise longer than one day, thereby cutting off our income. Two days ago an advertisement was ordered in the News, and before the paper went to press the wants of the advertiser had been supplied. The next day a notice of house for rent was handed in, and paid for to be inserted one week. Scarcely had we reached the office the following morning before the advertiser came in and begged that the notice be taken out—the house had been rented, and we had to refund the money. Now every one knows this is not doing us right—we should at least be allowed to make something. Who will say that advertising in the News don't pay—the advertiser?(2) A pure stimulant, Century whiskey!

LEGISLATURE.—The Senate yesterday was engaged all day in the consideration of the Constitutional amendments.

Messrs. Cunningham, Todd and Worth, each, delivered speeches favoring the amendments in whole, and Mr. Respass in part. By reference to our proceedings the vote and the passage of the first six amendments can be seen.In the House, the bill to repeal the general incorporation act, and the bill to give entire soldier disabled in the late war $50, were the topics of interest.
Both, after a lengthy debate, were recommitted to the Judiciary Committee, from whence they were reported. For the details of the proceedings the reader is referred to the reportorial columns.

A NOVEL PROCEEDING.—Yesterday,

Deputy U. S. Marshal Clark received from the Clerk of the Western North Carolina District Court, a Subpoena for John Stonach, directing him to serve at once and return precept by return mail. The only John Stonach to be found in Wake county was an infant son of W. C. Stonach, who was born just one month after the Judge gave the order for the Subpoena, but the Deputy Marshal had no instructions as to the age of the person upon whom the Subpoena was to be served, and consequently obeyed the letter of the law by leaving the precept at the abode of the person to whom it was directed.POSTPONED.—In consequence of the inclement weather yesterday, the sale of the old Fair Ground lots, which should have occurred yesterday, has been postponed until Monday next at 11 o'clock a. m. Persons wanting good lots for present or future use should make note of this.

Remarks of Mr. Cunningham, of Person, in the Senate, on the bill for the establishment of the County of Guilford.MR. PRESIDENT.—I desire to offer as briefly as possible, my reasons for opposing the bill before us, reasons which I cannot but hope will have some influence on others.The creation and organization of new counties are attended with heavy expense. New county buildings are to be erected, the township system re-arranged in the old counties concerned, and formed entire in the new, and additional offices created and provided for.These are heavy burdens, at all times, to those concerned, but to a people impoorished and discouraged as ours are just now, they are almost intolerable. The work of forming new counties is also attended with more or less confusion, and it there ever was a time in a people's history when it was important to prevent new complications in their municipal system, we are in that crisis.Our reconstruction policy attempted a total revolution in the habits of a state of old civilization and powers of self government, and with this utter wiping out of long established usages and the inauguration of systems entirely new, comes the necessity of reviving our ruined credit, of re-invigorating all the formative influences of society.We are in a transition state—we are passing from one form of civilization to another, and at the same time trying to rise, also, from the prostration caused by the results of recent history.Our condition is chaotic at best—we don't yet understand what our body politic is, and most of us are dreadfully bothered to get the run of its machinery, and to learn what it is we each have to do to carry it on. Why, sir, the very names are a puzzle to the passing generation; we all have to learn to speak a new language, and our municipal life must necessarily be attended with distraction and discomfort for years of effort have drilled us into some degree of proficiency in our present and not tactics.Along with this revolution has already come a large number of new counties; our list now runs close to a hundred, and on it are so many names to which our ears have been unused that the calling of the catalogue is no longer an easy matter to our most experienced officials, while all of our maps are out of date, and the geographies can't pretend to keep pace with the changes in our political divisions.But, Mr. President, if the wants of those concerned demanded this new county, I would be ready to vote for the measure, even at such a time, and when there is scarcely a citizen except the Secretary of State, who can tell how many counties we have and where and how they lie, but at any time, and under any circumstances, I would be hardly able to see a valid reason for cutting pieces out of the compact, harmonious and comparatively small counties of Warren, Granville and Franklin.Why disturb divisions under which the people of those counties have prospered and been happy? Those three counties have been in many respects the most desirable section of North Carolina.

The citizens of each have ever been distinguished for county pride and public spirit, they have all been within comparatively easy reach of their coun-seats, these county seats are nearly central, are centres of educational and moral influences, noted for hospitality and healthfulness, and adorned with excellent public buildings.The historic associations of each are honorable, and without disparaging the other two, allow me to say that I ever wish to think of Warren as identified with the illustrious names of Macon and Edwards, and I may add, also, of Somerville.There is scarcely a county seat in the State more central than those of Warren and Granville, and if the people of either of these most respectable and heretofore very prosperous and contented communities labor under such grievances as to demand the expensive, exciting and confusion-working process of reconstruction, then we may as well at once undertake the re-arrangement of our whole county system.Sir, I cannot touch such well formed political divisions. I fear to change a single line, and I know such an innovation where there is so little apparent need, will be a dangerous precedent, and will encourage a spirit of reconstruction everywhere.LEGISLATURE OF NORTH CAR-OLINA.

SENATE.

THURSDAY, Feb. 6, 1873.

The Senate was called to order at 10 o'clock, Mr. Allen in the chair.Journal of yesterday read and approved.

Petitions and Memorials.

By Mr. Flemming, a petition from the citizens of McDowell, asking the establishment of a branch of the State Lunatic Asylum at Marion, in said county. Referred to Committee on Insane Asylum.By Mr. Murray, a memorial from citizens of Alamance county concerning the valuation of real estate.

Reports of Standing Committees.

Mr. Flemming from the Judiciary;
Mr. Welch from Corporations; Mr.
Avera from the same; Mr. Ellis, of Columbus, from the Educational, submitted reports.On motion of Mr. Ellis, the School bill was made the special order for Monday at 12 o'clock.

Messages Received.

From His Excellency, the Governor, transmitting a copy of the report of the Commissioner of the Board of Public Charities. In his message the Governor says: "I have the honor to transmit herewith for your consideration an elaborate report of the Board of Public Charities, which I have read with great deal of interest, and upon which it would afford me pleasure to make some suggestions, stating wherein I do not concur with the recommendations of the Board; but fearing that it may be charged, as it was charged by members of your honorable body on a former occasion, when I endeavored to make, what appeared to me, legitimate suggestions with regard to our public debt, that I manifested a desire to usurp legislative functions and interfere with your prerogatives, I forbear now to say or do anything on the subject matter of the accompanying report, further than to transmit the report itself."The report was ordered to be printed, and after some discussion as to what disposition should be made of the Governor's message.On the exception of Mr. Troy, colored, his further consideration was postponed till the 1st day of June.

Introduction of Bills.

By Mr. Troy, a bill to re-enact, and continue in force the act, authorizing the Commissioners of Cumberland county to levy a special tax.By Mr. Love, a bill to incorporate the Rabon Gap Short Line Railroad. Referred.By Mr. Respass, a bill for the relief of Pamlico county. Referred.By the same, a bill for the protection of the fishing interest of Neuse river.
Referred.By Mr. Barnhardt, a bill to prevent the sale of spirituous liquors within one mile of Harrisburg, in Cabarrus county.
Referred.Under suspension of the rules, on motion of Hyman, colored, the bill to incorporate Stone Square Lodge, Warrenton, was taken from the Committee on Corporations, and referred to Com-

Mr. E. J. Hatcher has resigned his position as Agent of the Southern Express Company at Wilmington, and Mr. H. N. Latham has been appointed in his stead.

Our young friend Walter Daniel, of Weldon, has become a pupil at Wake Forest College. Walter's quick mind will undoubtedly make him a bright scholar.

Mr. Henry Howard, the young man who recently had the small-pox in Weldon, but who has since been recruiting in Richmond and Petersburg, has returned to Weldon again, and resumed his duties.

Fifteen bales of cotton belonging to Mr. Thomas Connell, of Granville county, was sold in Petersburg, Va., a few days since at 20 cts. Five bales belonging to Mr. Henry A. Horse, of Halifax, sold in the same market at 21 cts.

The railroad meeting at Lumberton on last Monday was addressed by Judge Ouderunk. The meeting was largely attended and was called to facilitate the construction of a branch of the Wilmington, Charlotte & Rutherford Railroad to Fayetteville.

Says the Raleigh News: We learn from Deputy Sheriff Whitmore that John P. Knight, while returning home from Palmira on the evening of the 28th ult., in an intoxicated condition, fell into Deep Creek and was drowned. He was found next morning and an inquest held, a verdict in accordance with the foregoing facts having been returned. The unfortunate man lived on the line of Martin and Edgemore and leaves a wife and children.

[From the Wilmington Journal, Feb. 5.]

Zebulon B. Vance.
This distinguished and favorite son of North Carolina will address the citizens of Wilmington at the Opera House, this evening, under the auspices of the Wilmington Library Association and the Young Men's Christian Association.

No man in the State is more widely known or better loved by the people of every degree and condition in life, than is Zebulon B. Vance. Born and reared in the West, the people of the sand hills of the East are devoted to him as strongly as are his own sturdy mountaineers.

Everybody knows who Governor Vance is, but it may not be amiss this morning to recall some of the incidents of the public life of a man who, before he was thirty-five years old, had attained a greater degree of personal popularity than any man that ever lived in the State, has enjoyed.

Governor Vance, even now, has scarcely reached the prime of life, being barely forty-three years of age. He was born in Buncombe county, in the year 1820. Our first acquaintance with him was made in the year 1851, when he was a student of law at the University. Shortly after his return home in that year, and shortly after obtaining his license to practice law, he was elected Solicitor for his county. But Vance was a politician by nature, and the charms of the law, with all the honors and emoluments, did not possess power enough to attract him undividedly away from him. It was only in the political arena that he could find "room and verge" for the development of his real nature. Accordingly, in 1854, he became a candidate for the House of Commons, as it was then called, and was elected by his fellow citizens as the Representative of his native county. He served only one term in the Legislature.

In 1855, we think, he was associated with John D. Hyman in the editorial conduct of the leading paper of the State, a paper in that section of the State, then called, if we mistake not, the Asheville Spectator.

In 1856 he was a candidate for the State Senate against Colonel David Coleman and was beaten, Coleman and Democracy being too strong for Know Nothingism even when advocated by Vance.

In 1858 General Clingman, then the representative in the United States Congress from the Mountain District, was appointed by General Bragg to fill an unexpired term in the United States Senate, caused by the resignation of Hon. Asa Biggs who had been appointed Judge of the United States Court for North Carolina. Col. David Coleman and W. Avery, Esq., of Burke, both Democrats, became candidates to fill the unexpired term caused by Gen. Clingman's resignation. As soon as the contest had waxed sufficiently warm, young Vance came forward as a Whig candidate. Coleman withdrew, but it was too late, a fatal breach had been made in the Democratic party, and Vance was elected. In 1859 he was a candidate for re-election for the next full regular term, and having firmly established himself in the affections of the people of the District, was able to defeat his old opponent, Colonel Coleman, one of the best, purest, ablest and most popular men that ever lived in the mountains. He served in Congress until March, 1861.

While a candidate for re-election in 1861, the ordinance of secession was passed by the Convention on the 20th of May. Preparations for war were already on foot, and Vance was no longer a man at arms. He responded, and at once, to the very first call to arms. He had not favored the secession movement, but he was a true North Carolinian, and ready to obey the behests of his State at all hazards. At the hazard even of his life. Before the end of May, indeed on the very day on which the ordinance of secession was passed, he was Captain Vance, and had his company in Camp at Raleigh. His company was one of those that formed the Fourteenth Regiment, first commanded by that gallant soldier, Colonel Junius Daniel. Captain Vance served with his regiment in Virginia until late in the fall or early winter, when he was elected Colonel of the Twenty-Sixth Regiment, in command of which he fought at the battle of Newbern and in the fights around Richmond. In August, 1862, he was elected Governor, and having resigned his Colonelcy was inaugurated in the Fall of that year, under a special ordinance of the Convention, fixing the date of the beginning of his term of office. In 1864, he was re-elected Governor of the State. His vigorous, earnest efforts for the successful prosecution of the war are matters of common history.

In April, 1865, he left Raleigh with General Sherman's army, went to Greensboro, and from there to Charlotte, where he joined President Davis. From Charlotte he went to Statesville, in Iredell county, to which place he had previously removed his family for safety and refuge. There he remained until sometime in May, 1865, when he was arrested and carried to Washington City, and imprisoned in the Old Capitol, where he was confined for several months. It was while there that he gave one of his characteristic replies to the question asked, "where are you doing here, Vance?" "Where are you doing here, Vance?" He said, "at the beginning of the war, Holden said he would get in the last ditch, and vote the last man and the last dollar to whip the Yankees. I went his security, and as he won't pay, they have taken me with a ca. sa. and here I am." Mrs. Vance having fallen very ill, Governor Holden, at the solicitation of Governor Vance's friends, and in tardy recognition of the protection extended to him when the raid was made by Confederate troops on his printing office in Raleigh, wrote to President Johnson in his behalf, and he was finally released.

Towards the close of the year Governor Vance removed to Charlotte and resumed the practice of the law. Perhaps one of the most important cases in which he has been engaged was the celebrated case of the late James C. Johnston, tried in Edenton, in the year 1867, at the request of which was published in the Journal at the time.

Of course, during the war of reconstruction, as it may well be termed, it was impossible for Zebulon B. Vance to be an idle spectator. Although a banned man, he has, we believe, taken an active part in every stage of the struggle; ever maintaining and upholding the rights of the people of North Carolina. In every section of the State his voice has been heard, exhorting the people to courage, and to patience, and to hope, and that, too, doubtless, at a great sacrifice of his private interests.

Finally, in 1870, when honest men once more controlled the Legislature, it was thought the time had come when an adequate reward could be given to such long and faithful service in field, in camp and in council chamber. Accordingly, on November 29th, 1870, he was elected by the Legislature to be United States Senator, to succeed General Abbott.

The Federal Senate, after a decisive vote held out by its members, refused to remove his disabilities, and on the 2nd of January, 1872, his resignation was sent in to the Senate of North Carolina. Thereupon General Matthew W. Ransom was elected in his place, and was enabled, by personal appeals to Senators, to secure the passage of a bill removing his disabilities. During the campaign that followed, Governor Vance took an active and distinguished part, canvassing both the Eastern and Western portions of the State. Everywhere he went he was received with most cordial and enthusiastic welcome. The people of Wilmington will remember the regret and disappointment they felt when they learned that a heavy fall of rain at Whiteville, in Columbus county, had compelled a postponement of his speech there to an hour that would prevent his speaking here.

The recollection of the recent Senatorial contest in which Governor Vance was defeated, is fresh in the memory of us all. Everybody knows that Governor Vance was the regular nominee of the Conservative Party, and that he was defeated by the refusal of certain gentlemen to be bound by the action of the party caucus. Everybody regrets that division and dissensions should have occurred in our ranks, and we all sympathize with him in his defeat. We have honestly and earnestly sought to heal these divisions and dissensions in the way that common sense seemed to us to dictate as the quickest and surest and best; but we cannot withhold from Zebulon B. Vance, the meed of praise due to one who has been, in peace and in war, true to party, true to honor and true to North Carolina.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

NOON DISPATCHES.

Meeting Parliament—The Queen's Speech.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Parliament has assembled. The Queen's speech says that England is at peace with the great powers, and will co-operate for the suppression of slave trade on the coast of Africa, and that friendly negotiations are progressing with Russia. Schouvaloff assures Her Majesty of the friendship of the Czar for England. Thiers will arbitrate between England and Portugal, relative to possessions on the south coast of Africa. It is considered proper to hasten payment of the Alabama claims award.

From Paris.

PARIS, February 6.—The Courier, of Bayonne, says no substantial advantages have been gained by the Spanish forces over the insurgents in the northern provinces. Troubles arise from the negotiation of the Memphis and El Paso Railroad bonds in European markets.

Fire in Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., Feb. 6.—The block occupied by the Merchant's Union Express and the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company has been burned. The Republican printing building narrowly escaped. The loss is about seventy-five thousand dollars.

From New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Dr. Starrs, Vicar General of the Diocese of New York, is ill. Dissolution is apprehended. A proposition is pending to reduce the Brooklyn and Yonkers municipality. It is stated that Fremont and some associates have been indicted.

Explosion of A Torpedo.

TITUSVILLE, PA., Feb. 6.—A torpedo which Andrew Daley was filling exploded, killing him, wife and child, and blowing the house to atoms.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

Washington Affairs.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The bill which passed the House of Representatives yesterday, giving to the producers of tobacco the right to sell direct to consumers, meets the general disapproval of all manufacturers of the country as well as the Bureau of Internal Revenue, which this morning addressed the following letter to members of the Senate and Finance Committee:

The final passage of the bill in regard to selling leaf tobacco direct to the consumer which passed the House yesterday, will, in the respectful judgment of this office, prove very disastrous to the Revenue from tobacco, and is most earnestly deprecated by the whole body of manufacturers of tobacco throughout the country. I have addressed the Chairman of your Committee to-day, asking a hearing for this office, and the manufacturers of the country before the Senate is called to consider it. We estimate that the Revenue would be reduced three million dollars per annum by the proposed bill.

Very respectfully signed,
J. W. DOUGLASS,
Commissioner.

Eli F. Jennings, of Alabama, and Albert M. Barney, recently Collector of Customs, of Brownsville, Texas, has been appointed Special Treasury Agents.

The campaign against Captain Jack, except for the defence ordered, has been suspended until the Commissioners recently appointed arrive.

The one hundred and fifty or so witnesses and politicians here from Louisiana, in attendance upon the Committee on Elections and Privileges, are well; all are hopeful, and most of them full of spirits.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—House.—Young's bill with Senate amendments appropriating one hundred and ten thousand dollars for public buildings at Atlanta, passed and goes to the President.

Bill relieving R. M. T. Hunter, of Virginia, passed.

The Conference Committee on amendments to the bankrupt law, agreeing to Senate bill with few verbal amendments, was adopted.

The conference upon the war ships report was adopted. It provides for the building of six ships, the cost not to exceed $1,200,000.

C. C. Bowen, the contestant of De Large from South Carolina, gets $1,500.

Thirty thousand dollars was appropriated for the investigation of elections for Arkansas, Louisiana and Kansas.

The bill bridging the Mississippi at Memphis, was recommitted.

The post office appropriation was resumed. The amendment extending the carrier system to cities of twenty thousand inhabitants was adopted.

SENATE.—Rice's motion to refer to the Committee on Elections and Privileges whether Arkansas has a legal State government to take precedence was lost.

The report of the Conference Committee on the amendments to the bankrupt bill to relieve the Boston Fire Insurance Companies, passed and goes to the President.

The Funded Loan Subscription.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The funded loan subscription in the United States and Europe to-day have been so heavy that the Secretary of the Treasury, in order to stop the interest, has issued the call for one hundred millions of five twenty bonds of 1862, in advance of the closing of the books on Friday evening. Additional calls will be issued to follow shortly; the Secretary having declined to call at one time more than two hundred millions, because of the clerical labor involved in preparing and receiving and delivering the bonds.

New York Affairs.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The recovery of Mayor Kathleish is hopeless. Simmons, who killed Durgan, is still at the Bellevue Hospital, closely guarded. He will be taken to the Tombs to-night if well enough. The District Attorney has taken measures to prevent Simmons' release on bail.

Vicar General Starr is dead.
